F029265 People v. Elliott

The judgment of conviction is affirmed. The true findings with respect to the prior burglary conviction and associated prison term (section 667, subd(d) and 667.5, subd (b)) are affirmed. The true finding with respect to the prior prison term allegation (section 667.5, subd.(b)), concerning the conviction for assault with a firearm, is affirmed. The true finding with respect to the serious felony allegation (section 667, subd.(d)), concerning the conviction for assault with a firearm, is reversed. The prosecutor shall file in the trial court and serve upon appellant, within 30 days after this opinion becomes final, a written notice of election to retry said allegation. In the event the prosecutor timely elects to retry said allegation, the trial court shall proceed in conformity with the views expressed herein. In the event the prosecutor elects not to retry said allegation, the trial court shall proceed to resentence appellant upon the convictions and remaining enhancements. . Levy, J.
